SOME INTERESTING FACTS.

The annual report of the Secretary of State for the fiscal year ending September 30th, 1878, is the most interesting and valuable report yet issued from that office. After giving us some information regarding the financial condition of the State, which by the way is good, it presents some important tables relative to value of the real and personal property in the State; the valuation of all taxable property; the bonded indebtedness of towns and cities; the sales of real estate; a statement of the acreage of the principal farm products grown in Wisconsin in 1878—by counties; report of county agricultural societies; a list of corporations in the State; a list of the marriages, births, and deaths in Wisconsin in 1877; and statistics of prosecutions criminal offenses in the several counties in the State for 1877, the total of which is 1,345, of which 206 are charged to Rock County.

The value of acres of land is given in round numbers at 230 million dollars, and the total equalized value of all taxable property at 413 millions of dollars. The number of acres of land sold during the year 1877, is recorded at 1,305,902, while the consideration in the deeds aggregated $15,485,698. The total acreage of farm products growing in the State in June, 1878, is reported as follows:

Wheat	1,288,617
Corn	3,082,721
Oats	572,746
Barley	131,461
Rye	104,122
Hay	82,725
Clover	57,121

Dodge county is put down as containing the largest acreage of wheat—140,000—Dane next, and Fond du Lac third. Rock county, with the exception of Grant, had the greatest acreage of corn—76,396, and with the exception of Grant and Dane, had the largest breadth of oats—57,210; Grant having 57,723, and Dane 59,721. Of barley, Rock had several thousand acres more than any other county in the State—15,644. The number of pounds of farm produce raised in the State in 1877, is given by counties, and in the aggregate is as follows:

Wheat	1,288,617
Corn	3,082,721
Oats	572,746
Barley	131,461
Rye	104,122
Hay	82,725
Clover	57,121

The number of pounds of tobacco raised in the State in 1877 is given at 5,592,811 of which 2,369,189 were raised in Rock county, and 3 millions in Dane.

On Thanksgiving Day, Talmae closed his sermon in these words: "I now send you to your Thanksgiving banquet; put a slice of contentment on your plate, and fill the glasses to the brim with sparkling praise. The best sauce that caterer ever provided was a cheerful spirit." The New York Herald suggests that "if Talmae were compelled to live for a month or so on such a Thanksgiving fare, he would hardly be in a mood to run around New York at midnight." It is easy for a minister who resides in an elegant mansion, who has rich men for his hearers, and who preaches the gospel for fifteen thousand a year, to give such advice, but it does not strengthen the inner man of the poor, the hungry, and the cold. This suggests an incident related by Miss Frances Willard, in her sermon in this city on Sunday. Not long ago a fashionable preacher in Chicago delivered a fashionable sermon, and made the path to righteousness very plain, and in some respects, easy. An old lady who was an attentive listener and who clearly saw through the minister's policy, made the very pertinent remark "It is not hard for them to serve God in that way who are beautiful, who never grow old, and who never get poor or sick!"

AFGHANISTAN.

The British Troops Meeting Obstacles in the Mountain Passes. LONDON, Dec. 2.—A dispatch from Thuli says the Afghans have got their guns up Peiwar Pass, and have established a battery on the summit. Afghan troops swarm on ridges and crags. Three regiments failed to turn the enemy's position Saturday, and retired on discovering his strength. One man was killed and 12 wounded. The withdrawal of the battery and the camp of the remainder of the force was rendered necessary by the accuracy of the Afghan artillery fire. The British will attack the pass on Monday, after the troops had a day's rest. They are confident of good results, although the fighting will certainly be severe. A dispatch from Sakhar says: "The news from the Quetta column is discouraging. In consequence of the loss of camel is universally believed the advance on Candahar will be delayed until spring."

THE SITUATION.

Speculations Concerning the Political Discussions in Congress. WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—It is generally agreed among the leading Democrats to-night that there will be no political or sectional debate unless forced by the Republicans. They say, however, that if the President attacks the South or the South attacks the President, they will be forced to do so. "A bloody shirt," as they call it, that an immediate and energetic reply will be made, and if a bitter and acrimonious debate follows, they claim that the responsibility will not be upon them. They say, however, that if it is avoided that six of the heaviest appropriation bills will be passed and passed before the holiday recess, which will be fixed December 20, or about that time. The prevailing opinion, however, is, that a political debate will be sprung and continue most of the session, in spite of the protestations of both parties that such is not desirable. There is a strong undercurrent of feeling in regard to the Southern question that will not down.

She Collides with the Charles Morgan Near Bringer's Point—A Number of Lives Lost. NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 1.—At 3 o'clock this afternoon the steamer Charles Morgan reached the city with distressing intelligence that at 4 o'clock this morning a collision occurred between that steamer and the Cotton Valley, en route for Shreveport, which resulted in the sinking of the Cotton Valley and the loss of a number of lives. Samuel Gwatney and J. W. Ong, clerks of the Cotton Valley, state that the boat was struck on her starboard side just forward of the cylinder and sunk in fifteen minutes. Her engine was disabled by the collision and would not move. The morning watch was on the point of being changed. Half of the crew and all of the passengers were asleep, and besides it was raining furiously and blowing a gale of wind. Instantly there was a scene of confusion. The Charles Morgan endeavored to run alongside and threw a line which fell short. She was then blown down the stream. A life-boat was put overboard from the Valley and Capt. M. H. Kauss,

H. A. PATTERSON, P. M.

OHIO FORTUNE HUNTERS.

Who Will Strike for $315,000,000 in the Heart of Philadelphia?

Dayton Special to Cincinnati Commercial, November 24.

Quite recently an advertisement appeared in a number of papers throughout the country asking for information of the heirs of Colonel Jacob Baker, a Revolutionary soldier, who died intestate at the residence of his brother, in Canada, in the year 1801. He was an odd, eccentric character, and had been visiting his relative some time. He always appeared to have sufficient means to meet his wants, but was quite reticent about his financial affairs, and it was not until he died that it was found he had more than a pension from the United States Government for his service during the war. His health was very good, but taking a severe cold he grew very ill, and died unexpectedly to his relatives, leaving with them his discharge from the army, his uniform, cocked hat and sword, all of which are still in their possession. It now appears that the old Colonel owned a large tract of nearly fifteen hundred acres, then in the suburbs, now in the center and most valuable portion of Philadelphia. The value of the estate is enormous, being rated as high as $315,000,000. Only of late years the facts have been elicited and efforts have been made to discover the old Colonel's relatives. He was a bachelor, but at the time of his death had several brothers living. A son of one of these brothers, and a nephew of the old Colonel, is Benjamin Baker, living in Brookville, a small town several miles from Dayton. A large number of the family are living in the neighborhood in this section of the country, and a meeting was called in Brookville in the early part of the week, at which fifty-seven representatives of the family were present. Funds were raised and subscribed to for sending Mr. Benjamin Baker to make any necessary investigations into the old family records for proving their claim to the property, and the family are determined on asserting their claims.

Watching a Millionaire's Grave.

Philadelphia Times.

Beginning last night (the day of the funeral), a watch will be kept on the grave of Mr. Thomas H. Powers to thwart any attempts that may be made by grave-robbers. Two men will watch by night and two by day, the orders of Mrs. Powers being that their vigil shall not cease for two years. To the tombstone will be attached a key to a watch, locked in a case that the man will carry. This watch must have the key at the grave inserted into it every half hour, and will be inspected twice a day, to see that it has been carried to the grave at frequent intervals. Five years ago, when Mr. Powers' son Henry died (father and son now lay side by side), a similar vigil was kept. One day Mr. Powers saw one of the watchmen on the street under the influence of liquor. He drove at once to the works at Ninth and Parish, when he met a trusted servant of the firm. "Mike," he said, "here are $30—buy a nice, warm coat and go to Henry's grave to-night—I saw one of the watchmen drunk to-day." At 9 o'clock Mr. Powers himself drove out, bringing a lunch and water-proof to the substitute watchman, who stayed there for many nights thereafter.

It is understood "in circles well advised" that the will left by Mr. Powers contains no public bequests of any importance. "Mr. Powers was a giver in his life-time."
